

I believe that mandating ISP compliance with Federal Wiretapping laws would be a financial hardship to small independent operations. We have barely the budget to keep up with minor upgrades to our equipment for increased service offerings to our customers. This also impings on the use of the internet as a channel for free speech. Someone would dare not speak their mind on an email or chat room for fear of a FBI investigation. I would be more agreeable to having some sort of bayesian analysis that would relay statistics to the FBI to determine if one of my customers could possibly be committing crimes against our nation. Then have the FBI perform the usual course of presenting the information to a judge and then requesting wiretap ability that the FBI would be fiancially resposible for.
